In this brief report you will learn how to find what's selling on eBay by using three freely available tools.

- (1) Google
- (2) My blog
- (3) My web site

STEP ONE:

Go to <http://1800realitycheck.blogspot.com/> . Scroll down (press End on keyboard) to the bottom of the page. There you will find a Google Search box.

STEP TWO:

Type (40 Bids) into the Google Search box and hit the Search button.

Note: Each day (or nearly so) I run scans of eBay Pulse and publish the results to my blog. You can use any number of bids from 20 and up. However, using 40 is a good place to start. As you can see this search will find bids less then 40 as well as more then 40. But the idea is, all of these items are popular and in big demand on eBay right now. There isn't a dog among them. By scanning eBay Pulse I give you a daily list of some of the very best items on eBay. By using the Google search box on my blog you further filter this list to isolate the biggest sellers.

Now try this: Let's say your interest is in Jewelry. Type that in the Google search box on my blog and see what you get.

Take your research to the next level: Copy 'N Paste one of those items into the Google search box at the top of the result page you brought up. Select the "Web Search" option and click the Search button.

Now you have an instant list of potential suppliers as well as a quick reference of what others are selling that item for outside of eBay! I always check out all of the most interesting listings and the Google ads as well.

TIP: Consider this:

Copy 'N Paste the items you find using this method into your favorite word processing program. Clean up the list as needed. You could add some interesting graphics and fonts to attract interest. Print out the results and post this list on bulletin boards wherever available as items you are interested in buying. You might consider printing up business cards and / or postcards, a mix of cards that offer to purchase a select group of items.

Having done your homework you should know what you can get selling any of these items on eBay. You also know what they are available for outside of eBay. And, you now know what you need to buy them for to allow a good profit for yourself. You've taken out all the risky guess work. The simple fact is, most people are too lazy to do this sort of research. You can profit from their laziness if you spend a few minutes following the suggestions laid out above.

Have you found this report helpful? Check out my other free tool, (STEP THREE:) my web site application , to run your own scans of eBay Pulse anytime. Just select a category and let the program build a page for you. Copy 'N Paste the results into the box provided and filter the data to pick out the very best sellers.
